Vocational Scenario or Context	You are continuing your work experience in a local law firm as a trainee with a specific interest in UK criminal law. The law firm have been approached by a local business for advice on crime prevention. Your supervisor feels this is an appropriate opportunity for you to investigate crime prevention strategies to aid local business and people connected to business.

Task 1	Part A Crime prevention - A client advice pack (security plan) You are required to construct a crime prevention advice pack, including a security plan, for your client, a local business. You must carry out individual research to allow you to give suitable crime prevention advice that will be suitable for the specific requirements, location and type of business you have chosen. Your advice pack must demonstrate your clear understanding of crime prevention strategies. This will include an explanation of why your chosen business will need a crime prevention strategy. Your crime prevention pack will include a discussion in which you show individual analysis of an appropriate security plan for your client's business. This will include an explanation of the roles, support and benefits of enforcing agencies in protecting businesses that could provide support to your client's business.
